Thousands are Trying It.
In order to prove the great merit of Ely's Cream Balm, the most effective cure for Catarrh and Cold in Head, we have prepared a generous trial size for 10 cents. Get it of your druggist or send 10 cents to ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N. Y. City.

I suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since a boy, and I never hoped for cure, but Ely's Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for catarrh and contains no cocaine, mercury nor any injurious drug. Price, 50 cents. At druggists or by mail.

BLIND.

Blow, blow, O wind, the clouds aside
That I may see the stars!
In heaven glimmers far and wide
The burnished shield of Mars,
And Jupiter and Venus ride
The night in glittering cars!

Blow, blow, O wind, the clouds aside
That I may see the stars!
Nay, God has flung his darkness wide
And set the unyielding bars,
And day and night, unheeded, ride
The world in glittering cars!

HIS TIME HAD COME.

They were five, with the guide, snugly camped up in the forests of the Rangeley country, and the day's sport had been a trifle heavy if empty. They had done a long tramp. The broad fireplace yawned a crackling comfort. There was soothing punch on the table and our pipes were drawing well. The talk had drifted to casualty and fatality and to the exchange of views upon the hairbreadth line which divides the chance of life from that of death in peculiar cases.

The guide told of a young fellow who had been literally frightened to his death a few years before by the onrush of a big bull moose which he had wounded with his last cartridge. The brute had been knocked over by a shot from the guide before it reached the boy, who, though unmarked by a scar, through simple terror had lost his hold upon the spark of life. Instances were named where a fall of a few inches had brought death, and others where men had fallen distances of 50 or 60 feet only to get up and walk off unharmed.

The doctor had been a silent listener to all this talk and sat gazing into the glowing coals until our stories were ended. Suddenly he went to his shakedown, and from beneath it drew an old and weather beaten satchel, from which, after some search, he took an envelope and returned to his chair.

"My theory is, boys, that a man lives until his time's up, and no longer, and that it makes little or no difference in his length of life what he does or doesn't do. I seldom air this theory. In fact, I don't generally like to speak of death, an experience which strangely bears out my theory and which lies many years back.

"I had just fairly settled into the business left me by an old practitioner in a small mountain town in Vermont. It was not a town of wealth or great mortality, and I was not a busy man. Still, my reading kept me occupied for the most part, and I had just enough of outside work to give me exercise and maintenance. Even then I had formed opinions and read widely upon the doctrine generally referred to as fatalism. I had observed nothing which controverted my ideas, while there had come to me much in their support. Early on a blustery, stormy evening I was lounging in my easy chair before a roaring fire, pondering over a very strange deposition which I had just read, when my thought was interrupted by the sound of wheels and a moment later there was a determined knock on the door, and I opened up. A quarryman whom I knew by sight was my caller.

"'For God's sake, doc,' he said, 'come over with me to the quarry and help Big Griggs out of his misery. He's got a tamping iron clean up through his head.'

"I got my case, slid into a heavy coat and we were off. The Overlook quarry was six miles distant and during the drive I gathered particulars. Big Griggs had been drilling for a heavy blast all afternoon, and had loaded for an early morning firing just before the knock off. He had been tamping down the powder charge, short time had made him careless and there was a premature explosion. The tamping iron had been driven up through both jaws and through the top of the cranium and still remained in the wound. I mentally concluded that my driver was either drawing the tale o'erstrong through excess of excitement or else that there would be no need of my services when we reached the patient.

"But I found his statement of conditions literally correct. Poor Griggs sat there with jaws locked firmly together and with about seven inches of iron protruding from his chin and a similar length from the apex of the skull. The bar was round, two feet long, with a diameter of one-quarter inch at one end and one and one-quarter inches at the other. It must have weighed seven or eight pounds. I went to work and made him as comfortable as I could, thinking meanwhile of the least brutal way in which to tell him that the long night must soon come. I was a bit surprised that he was sane, since the wound must have been very snug to the brain cells, but he was fully conscious, though in great pain.

"Finally I asked him if he wished any particular thing done or any one sent for. Motioning for a pencil, he wrote:

"'Nothing to be done. I shall live for years yet, and there's no hurry.'

"I looked at him closely, believing that, after all, he was not precisely level. I had examined the curious wound carefully and wouldn't have insured his life for 48 hours on any terms. But, boys, Big Griggs lived with that iron in his head for more than six years. During all that time I attended him carefully, and we had long sign voice discussions about our mutual belief in fatalism. He predicted very closely the date of his death, and later I procured this somewhat ghastly photograph."

He drew from the envelope a photograph of a skull pinned through by an iron bar, and in turn we examined the picture. As it was passed from hand to hand each face mirrored the depressing thought of the years of unceasing suffering which had preceded the awful nakedness of the skull. The punch bowl received renewed attentions, and the talk broke away into forced and aimless channels, difficult for men to sustain long. At last one of them, in well intended effort to lighten the mood of the hour, said:

"Well, doc, when have you figured on reaching the limit of your earthly mission? Try and plan to finish this hunt with us, for we are bound to strike a moose before we are through."

The doctor had gazed into the coals without a word since the telling of his story, but his lips now parted in a slow and melancholy smile as he calmly answered:

"I fancy, boys, that it will come tomorrow. So sure am I of this that I shall ask you before we have a good night to join me in what I believe will be our last toast together. It will be to your comfort, friends, if you can dismiss my statement as but the vagary of an overtaxed comrade who finds himself in strange mood tonight, but we shall see." He continued to murmur to himself:

"It's a pretty world, senor, but not all has been happiness. I have seen of the travail of my soul and am satisfied."

He rose and filled his glass. "Fill and drink, boys," he called, and as they gathered around without volition to resist his whim he continued: "Drink to the unsolvable riddle of life; to the unfathomable arbitrament of fate and to the untroubled sleep which follows all in God's good time."

Three glasses were replaced with brimming edge untouched upon the table, one—the doctor's—lay shattered on the hearth. Hurried good nights were said, and a half hour later quiet ruled the camp. But one unsleeping member of the party went an hour later to view the skies and judge of the morrow's weather. And there he found another sentinel, who growled:

"What a d——d ghastly finale for an evening's good cheer. I wish the doctor had kept his infernal fancies and his uncanny toast to himself."

The next day's hunt promised to be as empty of results as was its predecessors. With the dusk three had returned to camp with royal appetites as the sole capture of the day, and the guide was rushing up a supper, encouraged by a running fire of adjuration. At length all was ready, and they drew up chairs. The doctor had not yet shown up, but he was a stayer as a sportsman and always the last man home. They knew he had gone over to a blind which he had thrown up near a promising lick at an inlet of the lake. He had salted the lick some days before and had since noted sure signs of moose. Against the judgment of the guide, who scouted his ability to fool a moose by a blind in the location which he had chosen, the doctor had sworn that if he took one at all he would take him there, and his patience and repeated failure was a joke of the camp. Probably he had waited until darkness had fairly shut in before giving up his vigil and even then was stumbling homeward through the gloom.

Still, while the boys variously accounted for his delay, they grew more and more uneasy, and at length the lanterns were lighted and they started in a body for the lick. No man voiced his thought or his expectation or spoke a word until we reached the blind.

And there we found him, dead and half crushed under the weight of a moose of 700 pounds. The signs about told the story. The tracks were not two hours old, and showed that the hulking deer had come to drink and then had turned to browse along the fringe of lapping water. The doctor had taken a side shot which, in the failing and deceptive light, had not been sure, and the moose had charged him furiously, a second shot failing to stop him. Beaten down and scattered was the blind, and behind it hunter and hunted had fought out their battle to the death of both. A broken antler told the fury of the onslaught and a splintered rifle stock the desperation of the defense.—New York Sun.

When you have a sick horse you do not hitch him up to a sulky and take him to the race track for a little healthful spin. You doctor him. You cannot work or recreate a man into good health any more than you can a horse. Bicycling will make healthy men more healthy; it will make unhealthy men more unhealthy. When a man has been living in too big a hurry, when he has worked himself out, when he has got so that he does not sleep or eat, or rest, and the whole world looks gloomy to him, it is time for him to take medicine. Then, when he is braced up a bit, it is time enough for him to take to the bicycle.

When a man's nerves have an edge on them, so that the least little disappointment rasps on his temper like a file, when his stomach and liver and nerves are deranged, and he is continually gloomy and melancholy, he should take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It makes a man as hungry as a fisherman and sees to it that all the vital elements of the food are absorbed into the blood. It braces up the liver and puts it to work in the right way. It drives all bilious impurities from the system. It fills flesh, nerves, brain cells, sinews and bones with the life-giving elements of rich, red, pure blood. It makes a man healthy and then a bicycle will make him strong. Medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing "just as good."

"Through your skillful treatment I am once more a well man," writes J. N. Arnold, Esq., of Gandy, Logan Co., Neb. "I suffered for years with constipation and torpidity of the liver, irritation of the prostate and inflammation of the bladder. I took six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' and am permanently cured. You have been the means of saving my life."

A man or woman who neglects constipation suffers from slow poisoning. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. All medicine dealers sell them. No other pills are "just as good."

PROCLAMATION.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA.
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
SACRAMENTO, July 30, 1898.

WHEREAS, The Legislature of the State of California, at the thirty-second session beginning on the Fourth day of January, A. D., 1897, two-thirds of all the members elected to each of the two houses of said Legislature voting in favor thereof, proposed the following described amendments to the Constitution of the State of California, to-wit:

Amendment Number One.
(Being Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 41.)

A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California, an amendment to section eighteen of article seven of the Constitution, in relation to revenue and taxation, by which it is proposed to amend said section to read as follows:

Section 18. No county, city, town, township, board of education, or school district shall incur any indebtedness or liability in any manner or for any purpose exceeding in any year the income and revenue provided for it for such year, without the assent of two-thirds of the qualified electors thereof, voting at an election to be held for that purpose, nor unless before, or at the time of incurring such indebtedness, provision shall be made for the collection of an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such indebtedness as it falls due and also provision to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof on or before maturity, which shall not exceed forty years from the time of contracting the same; provided, however, that the City and County of San Francisco may at any time pay the unpaid claims with interest thereon for materials furnished to and work done for said city and county during the forty-third and forty-fourth fiscal years, out of the income and revenue of any succeeding year or years; provided, that any and all claims for making, repairing altering, or for any work done upon, or for any material furnished for any street, lane, alley, court, place, or sidewalk, or for the construction of any sewer or sewers in said city and county are hereby excepted from the provisions of this section; and in determining any claims permitted to be paid by this section, no statute of limitations shall apply in any manner; and provided further, that the City of Vallejo, in Solano County, may pay its existing indebtedness incurred in the construction of its waterworks, whenever two-thirds of the electors thereof voting at an election held for that purpose, shall so decide. Any indebtedness or liability incurred contrary to this provision, with the exception hereinbefore cited, shall be void.

Amendment Number Two.
(Being Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 10.)

A resolution proposing to the people of the State of California an amendment to the Constitution of the State, by adding a new section, to be known and designated as section seven and one-half, article eleven thereof, providing for the framing by the inhabitants of counties of local county government acts for their own government. The said proposed new section to read as follows:

Section 7½. The inhabitants of any county may frame a county government act for their own government, relating to thematters hereinafter specified, and consistent with, and subject to, the Constitution and laws of this State, by causing a board of fifteen freeholders, who have been, for at least five years, qualified electors of such county, to be elected by the qualified electors of such county at any general or special election, whose duty it shall be within ninety days after such election, to prepare and propose a county government act for such county, which shall be signed in duplicate by the members of such board, or a majority of them, and returned, one copy thereof to the Board of Supervisors, or other legislative body of such county, and the other county to be sent to the recorder of deeds of the county. Such proposed county government act shall then be published in two papers of general circulation in such county, or if there be not two such papers, then in one only, for at least twenty days, and within not less than thirty days after such publication it shall be submitted to the qualified electors of such county, at a general or special election, and if a majority of such qualified electors voting thereon shall ratify the same, it shall thereafter be submitted to the Legislature for its rejection or approval, as a whole, without power of alteration or amendment, and if approved by a majority of the members elected to each house, it shall be the county government act of such county, and shall in such case become the organic law thereof and supersede any existing county government act, and all amendments thereof, and all special laws inconsistent with such county government act.

A copy of such county government act, certified by the President of the Board of Supervisors or other legislative body of such county, and authenticated by the seal of such county, setting forth the submission of such county government act to the electors, and its ratification by them, shall be made in duplicate and deposited, one in the office of the Secretary of State, the other, after being recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds in the county, among the archives of the county.

All courts shall take judicial notice thereof. The county government act so ratified may be amended, at intervals of not less than two years, by proposals therefor, submitted by the legislative authority of the county, to the qualified electors thereof, at a general or special election held at least forty days after the publication of such proposals for twenty days in a newspaper of general circulation in such county, and ratified by at least three-fifths of the qualified electors voting thereon, and approved by the Legislature as herein provided for the approval of the county government act. In submitting any such county government act any alternative article or proposition may be presented for the choice of the voters, and may be voted on separately without prejudice to others.

It shall be competent in all county government acts framed under the authority given by this section, to provide for the manner in which, the times at which, and the terms for which the several township and county officers, other than Judges of the Superior Court, shall be elected or appointed; for their compensation; for the number of such officers, for the consolidation or segregation of offices, for the number of deputies that each officer shall have, and for the compensation payable to each of such deputies, for the manner in which, the times in which, and the terms for which the members of all boards of election shall be elected or appointed; and for the constitution, regulation, compensation, and government of such boards, and of their clerks and attaches; also, to prescribe the manner and method by which all elections by the people shall be conducted; and may in addition determine the tests and conditions upon which electors, political parties and organizations may participate in any primary election.

Whenever any county has, in the manner and method herein pointed out, adopted any county government act, and the same shall have been approved by the Legislature as aforesaid, the directions of sections four and five of this article providing for the uniformity of a system of county governments throughout the State, and likewise providing for the election and appointment of officers, and the regulation of their compensation, shall not apply. Said county government act shall, as to any of the matters hereinabove provided for and declared by such county government act, not be subject to any law or amendment enacted by the Legislature, except by amendment first submitted to the electors and ratified in the manner hereinabove set forth.

Amendment Number Three.
(Being Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 44.)

A resolution proposing to the people of the State of California an amendment to the Constitution of the State, by adding a new section, to be know and designated as section five and one-half, article six, thereby providing for the organization of a court, to be known as the Court of Claims. The said proposed new section to read as follows:

Section 5½. The Court of Claims shall consist of any three Judges of the Superior Court, who may be requested by the Governor to hold court at the regular terms thereof. The Court of Claims shall have exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine all claims of every kind and character against the State under such laws as may be passed by the Legislature, and its judgment thereon shall be final. The terms of the Court of Claims shall be held as follows:

In the City of Los Angeles, commencing on the second Monday of March;

In the City and County of San Francisco, commencing on the second Monday in July, and

In the City of Sacramento, commencing on the second Monday in November of each year.

The Judges holding such terms of court shall receive no extra compensation therefor, but shall receive their actual expenses, to be paid out of the general fund of the State treasury. The Legislature shall enact all laws necessary to organize such court, to provide the procedure thereof, and to carry out the provisions of this section.

Amendment Number Four.
(Being Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 37.)

A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California an amendment to the Constitution of the State, amending article eleven, by adding a new section thereto, to be known as section number five and one-half, relating to consolidated city and county governments. The said proposed new section to read as follows:

Section 5½. The provisions of section four and five of this article shall not, nor shall any legislation passed pursuant thereto, apply to any consolidated city and county government, now existing or hereafter formed which shall have become, or shall become, organized under section seven, or secure a charter under section eight of this article

Amendment Number Five.
(Being Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 36.)

A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California, an amendment of section fifteen and section sixteen of article five of the Constitution of the State of California, by which it is proposed to amend said sections to read as follows:

Section 15. A Lieutenant-Governor shall be elected at the same time and place and in the same manner as the Governor, and his term of office and his qualifications shall be the same. He shall be president of the Senate, but shall only have a casting vote therein.

Section 16. In case of the impeachment of the Governor, or his removal from office, death, inability to discharge the powers and duties of his office, resignation or absence from the State, the powers and duties of the office shall devolve upon the Lieutenant-Governor for the residue of the term, or until the disability shall cease. And should the Lieutenant-Governor be impeached, displaced, resign, die, or become incapable of performing the duties of his office, or be absent from the State, the president pro tempore of the Senate shall act as Governor until the vacancy in the office of Governor shall be filled at the next general election, when members of the Legislature shall be chosen, or until such disability of the Lieutenant-Governor shall cease. In case of a vacancy in the office of Governor for any of the reasons above named, and neither the Lieutenant-Governor nor the president pro tempore of the Senate shall succeed to the powers and duties of Governor, then the powers and duties of such office shall devolve upon the speaker of the Assembly, until the office of Governor shall be filled at such general election.

Amendment Number Six.
(Being Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 38.)

A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California an amendment to section six, article nine of the Constitution of the State of California, relating to grammar schools by which it is proposed to amend said section to read as follows:

Section 6. The public school system shall include primary and grammar schools, and such high schools, evening schools, normal schools, and technical schools as may be established by the Legislature or by municipal or district authority, but the entire revenue derived from the State school fund, and the State school tax, shall be applied exclusively to the support of primary and grammar schools. Grammar schools shall include schools organized in a school district, or union of school districts, having more than one thousand inhabitants, in which a course of study shall be taught which will prepare pupils to enter the agricultural, mining, or scientific department of the University of California.

Amendment Number Seven.
(Being Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 34.)

A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California an amendment to section two, of article four, of the Constitution, in relation to sessions of the Legislature, by which it is proposed to amend such section to read as follows:

Section 2. The sessions of the Legislature shall commence at twelve o'clock meridian on the first Monday after the first day of January next succeeding the election of its members, and shall be biennial unless the Governor shall in the interim convene the Legislature by proclamation. The Legislature shall then remain in session for twenty-five days, after which it must adjourn to some date not less than thirty nor more than sixty days from the time of adjournment. If the two houses fail to agree upon a time at which they will resume their session, the Governor shall, by proclamation, fix a date for such reconvening, which shall be within the limits above described. Upon reassembling, the Legislature shall complete its session. No pay shall be allowed to members for a longer period than seventy-five days and no bill shall be introduced in either house except at the first twenty-five days of the session, without the consent of three-fourths of the members thereof.

NOW, THEREFORE, Pursuant to the provisions of the Constitution and an act of the Legislature of the State of California, entitled "An act to provide for the submission of proposed amendments to the Constitution of the State of California, to qualified electors for their approval," approved March 7, A.D., 18 , the above described proposed amendments are hereby published and advertised to be voted upon by ballot, by the qualified electors of the State, at the election to be held throughout the State on Tuesday, November 8, A. D., 1898.

The said proposed amendments are to be separately voted upon in manner and form as follows:

Each ballot used at such election must contain written or printed thereon the following words, whereupon the voter may express his choice as provided by law:

INDEX-TRIBUNE

SONOMA, AUGUST 20, 1898.

H. H. GRANICE - - - - - - - - - - - - EDITOR

AT the meeting of the City Council last Wednesday night no further action was taken on the much-discussed water question, much to the disappointment of a number of citizens who were present and expected to see this important matter taken up by the Board. Owing to the fact that Ordinance No. 58, declaring the necessity to exist for the acquisition and construction of a municipal system of water works, had not been published the number of times required by law it was impossible for the Trustees to take further action. An adjourned meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, August 31st, for the purpose of introducing and passing Ordinance No. 60, the second of a series of ordinances required by law to be drawn up in relation to the bonding proposition.

WHEN the water question will have been submitted to the people and carried and when the electric light plant is completed old Sonoma will become one of the lively little cities of this State. Then commercial travelers and business men from elsewhere visiting our town will be able to look upon it as a successful business place. Enterprising citizens have dug down in their pockets and erected an electric lighting plant and it now stands the people in hand to further advance the town by standing in with the water proposition which will shortly be submitted to them by the City Trustees.

E. F. Woodward, announces in this issue his candidacy for the office of County Treasurer on the Republican ticket. Mr. Woodward is the present incumbent and has officiated with credit to himself and his constituents. No better or more pains-taking and careful person could be elected to fill this very important position.

Next Sunday the Rev. F. C. Krause, who was the guest of the Congregational Church on the 7th inst., will conduct the services both morning and evening.

Horse Drops Dead.

Walter Johnson and Chas. Fleishman, two of Sonoma Valley's gay young gentlemen, on Sunday last hired the best team in the Union Livery Stables and accompanied by a couple of young lady friends visited the Napa Soda Springs. They left this place about nine o'clock in the morning and after a drive to the springs without mishap started on the homeward journey, stopping at the Napa Asylum on the way. After they had crossed the Huichica Creek and as they were ascending one of the steep hills between this place and Napa one of the horses dropped dead in his tracks. They were about six miles from home and one of the young men made his way to the Johannsen place, a distance of about a mile, where he borrowed a horse and the party proceeded on its way. They reached this place about eleven o'clock Sunday night. The other horse which they hired from Granville Harris came back in a very gaunt condition and was sick for several days.

A Promising Voice.

A few weeks ago the Boston Quartette stopped in Sonoma while waiting for one of their number, Mr. Frank Valerga, the opera singer, and prepared for an entertainment in Union Hall, but which was so poorly attended that the performance was not given. They then went on, taking Frank McGill of this place as a substitute for Valerga, and made a tour of the summer resorts in this and Lake county, where they met with great success. Early engagements brought their pleasant camping trip to a close and young McGill returned home this week, accompanied by Mr. Van Buskirk, the baritone of the quartette, who is devoting a few weeks to special voice training and predicts a great future for Frank's rare voice.

The Dynamo Here.

The dynamo for the Sonoma Electric Light Company arrived from the East last Thursday and is now being placed in position at the power house on Spain street. The entire plant has now been erected and all that remains to be done before Sonoma can be lighted by electricity is the completion of the wiring of residences and making the necessary connections. The wires have been placed in almost every business house in town and the electricians are now at work on the residences.

W. W. Elliott Dead.

W. W. Elliott, well-known throughout the State as a newspaper man, died at his home in San Francisco last Tuesday. Just previous to his death Mr. Elliott completed the Sonoma county atlas, which he had been working on for many months. Some time ago he visited Sonoma in the interest of the atlas and became acquainted with many of our business men.

Company C, Eight Regiment California Volunteers, composed for the most part of Petaluma boys, was disgraced last Tuesday at Camp Barrett by the fatal stabbing of private Jonas Ury by his fellow soldier, Wm. Meodors. The former was from San Leandro and the latter, who hails from Arkansas, enlisted at Petaluma. Geo. Foutts, formerly of this place, was an eye witness to the affair and assisted in bandaging the wounds of Ury, who died several hours after being cut.

Dr. Dresbach Smith of Napa was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Osborne last Thursday.

Editor Granice, who was taken suddenly ill last Tuesday, is on the mend and will be ready for business next week.

HOW are the children this summer? Are they doing well? Do they get all the benefit they should from their food? Are their cheeks and lips of good color? And are they hearty and robust in every way?

If not, then give them

Lord vs. Hauto.

What promises to be an interesting case will be tried before Justice Cheney next Friday, when the lawsuit of Edwin Lord vs. Capt. Hauto will come up for hearing. The question involved in this suit is the use of water from a well on the Lord place, near the residence of Capt. Hauto. Many witnesses have been subpoenaed and both parties seem determined to press the proceedings.

Big Price for a Broken Heart.

Not long since a Danville, Ill., jury ordered the male defendant in a breach of promise case to pay the competent sum of $54,333.33 to the afflicted fair one. Though it is a pretty high estimate of blighting affection, there is another estimate which, if not in dollars and cents exactly as high, yet in general consideration of excellence reaches as lofty an altitude. This is the estimate of the people as to the efficacy of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a remedy for constipation. The action of this gentle but effective laxative is never accompanied by the griping so marked in the operation of most cathartics. It is an incomparable remedy for any preventive of malarial, rheumatic and kidney complaints, and a promoter of appetite and sleep.

TO CLEANSE THE SYSTEM

Effectually yet gently, when costive or bilious, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently overcome habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches, colds or fevers, use Syrup of Figs. LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY.

The Chelini Place Attacked by Several Hobos.

On Monday night last F. Chelini, residing on the old Ewell place about one mile west of town, had an experience that he will long remember and all that saved his place from being robbed by a band of tramps was the timely use of a shotgun.

Between eleven and twelve o'clock that night Mr. Chelini was aroused from his slumbers by peculiar noises and after listening a short time it became evident to him that robbers were endeavoring to force an entrance through the rear door of his residence. Footsteps were also heard on the front porch and at a door on the side of the house. Realizing that his dwelling was being attacked by several burglars Mr. Chelini, without dressing himself, hastily procured his shotgun and made his way out of the house through a window. The marauders, however, were on the alert and immediately took to their heels, but not before Mr. Chelini had succeeded in firing two shots at them. The would-be robbers, no less than five in number, are doubtedless members of a band of hobos who were camping on Sonoma Creek several days this week.

This is the second time that the Chelini place has been raided. About a month ago a quantity of fencing and two tons of hay were destroyed in broad daylight by an incendiary fire.

Death of Mrs. J. B. Chase.

Mrs. J. B. Chase, wife of the well-known horseman, died at her home on 1518 Mason street, San Francisco, on Friday of last week. Mrs. Chase had been sick for over a year and her death was not a surprise. The deceased lady leaves, besides her husband, several grown children. The interment was held last Sunday in Cypress Lawn Cemetery, San Mateo county.

Brevities.

Theodore Kiser has purchased a new Cleveland racing bike.

The new gas plant at the County Hospital was completed last Monday.

Thos. Schneider, a young man of Santa Rosa, was examined by an insanity commission last Monday and ordered sent to the California Home at Eldridge.

Duhring sells groceries, etc., cheaper than any other store in town. If you don't believe it call in and price his goods. The other stores are not in it with him.

The Sonoma Red Cross Society recently received a substantial recognition from the Glen Ellen Social Club in the shape of $55.50, the receipts from the benefit ball recently given in that place.

First street East, near the Linehan residence, will soon be ornamented by another cottage. Last week Mrs. Catherine Poppe let a contract for moving her cottage near the Catholic Church to a new site on the above street.

Richard Lochman, formerly of Schellville, who was recently arrested at Forestville for beating his wife, was arraigned before Judge Burnett on Friday afternoon of last week and pleaded not guilty. He will be tried on August 25th.

Wm. Murray, the well-known dairyman residing on the Sonoma mountain, was in town Tuesday and reports making a great success of his cheese factory, which he commenced several months ago. Mr. Murray ships about 1000 pounds of cheese to the Mare Island navy yard each month and also finds a good local market for his product.

CITY COUNCIL.

THOSE FILTHY DITCHES AGAIN.

The Trustees Meet in Regular Session and Transact the City's Business.

The Board of City Trustees met in regular session last Wednesday night and transacted the municipality's business, it being the second regular meeting for this month. All the Trustees were present and but little new business was taken up. However, important questions laid over from the last meeting were discussed to some extent and further steps taken toward settling them.

No new bills were presented for payment and those laid over at the last meeting were again deferred, for the want of funds, until the next regular meeting, which will be on September 7th.

The Street Committee reported that L. Breitenbach had neither completed his contract or cleaned the ditches satisfactorily. The committee also reported that Mrs. Justi had been instructed to clean the ditch running through her place, but had failed to do so.

On motion of Trustee Davis, seconded by Trustee Seipp, the Street Committee was instructed to have all ditches cleaned regardless of the contract with L. Breitenbach, who has failed to fulfill his agreement with the Board in a reasonable time, and also to have the ditch on the Justi place cleaned at the expense of Mrs. Justi.

The matter of lighting the streets with electricity, which was laid over from the last meeting, came up for consideration. There was a diversity of opinion among the Trustees as to the best kind of lights, arc or incandescent, and after a lengthy discussion the electric light company agreed to place three incandescent lights on Napa street as an experiment and to show the Trustees the candle power of each lamp.

J. B. Small asked for a permit to move a house from First-street West to First-street East, which was granted.

The Board will hold an adjourned meeting on Wednesday evening, August 31st, when Ordinance No. 60, relating to the water question, will be passed to print.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

J. Haughn Narrowly Escapes Death at Mare Island.

John Haughn, formerly manager of the McMackin feed mill and whose family resides near the Catholic Church, had a narrow escape from death last Saturday at the Mare Island navy yard, where he is employed as a laborer. Mr. Haughn and three fellow workmen had been engaged in operating a large derrick and by some hook or crook the gear of the machinery slipped and before the men could realize what had happened the huge derrick raised with great rapidity, hurling them bodily into the air. Mr. Haughn was picked up in an unconscious state and taken to Vallejo, where medical assistance was summoned. It was found that he was injured about the head and shoulders and the small of the back, but after being laid up for several days he was able to report for work the latter part of this week. His escape from death was miraculous, as he was thrown against machinery which but a few minutes before had been in motion.

Fire Near Glen Ellen.

"Wegner Villa," the picturesque summer resort of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Wegner, near Glen Ellen, was the scene of a disastrous fire last Sunday and what was once a large and costly barn now lies in ashes. The fire, the origin of which is unknown, occurred in the afternoon and all that was saved from the well-stocked stable was one old horse, several animals perishing. Every vehicle on the ranch was burned and also considerable hay and farming implements. All that saved the dwelling and large winery was the hard work of Mr. Wegner and near-by neighbors. The loss is estimated at about $1500.

The Republicans Organize.

The Republican County Central Committee, elected at the recent convention at Cloverdale, met in Santa Rosa last Saturday morning and elected new officers. L. V. Hitchcock was selected as Chairman and was made a committeeman at large. Frank Muther, Thos. Denny, W. J. T. Orr and Ed. C. Soules were also made committeemen at large. The other officers elected were Ed. C. Soules, Secretary, and J. F. Smith, Treasurer.

MALCOLM ELLIOTT.

The Young Soldier Writes from the Philippines to a Young Lady Schoolmate.

Malcolm Elliott, a graduate of the Sonoma High School, and son of Lieutenant Commander Elliott of the cruiser Baltimore of Admiral Dewey's fleet, has been heard from. At the first call for volunteers to go to Manila young Elliott, who was a student at the Stanford University and scarcely eighteen years of age, left college and enlisted in Company K, First Regiment Infantry, California Volunteers. He sailed in the first fleet of transports for Manila and took part in the battle which was fought on August 13th and led to the surrender of Manila. Young Elliott's regiment was in the thickest of the fray.

He writes as follows to Miss Elsie Appleton, member of the Class of '97. Sonoma Valley Union High School:

CAVITE ARSENAL,
Philippine Islands.

DEAR FRIEND:

It was a great change for the better to be landed from the crowded troop ship to this place. It was exactly a month after leaving Honolulu that we embarked on the small tug that brought us ashore. Cavite is a hook shaped peninsula which extends around to the west of Manila. It occupies the same position in regard to Manila that the end of Cape Cod does to Boston, but on a smaller scale. It is about eight miles from Manila by water and about fifteen by land. The spot where we are quartered is a very tropical place on the extreme end of the penisula. It is the place where the Spanish were quartered. The town of Cavite lies immediately outside the barracks and is now occupied by Insurgents, but was formerly occupied by the families of the Spanish soldiers. As soon as the Spaniards were driven out by Admiral Dewey the Philippinos moved in, and after looting the place squatted in the best residences they could pick out.

There are about ten thousand in the Insurgent army. They are a disreputable looking lot, but are all right as far as fighting goes. They have a battle nearly every night. Last night they attacked a party of Spaniards and after "macheting" many of them captured the rest. There were three hundred prisoners marched through the barracks this morning as a result of last night's encounter. Their principal weapon is a short knife. Some are used as throat-cutters and some are used to stab in the body. Some of them have guns and a very few pistols. They are very anxious to acquire pistols from the soldiers and will give almost anything for one of them. The natives overrun the camp and do a very large business selling fruit and washing clothes. I have picked up enough of the language already to get what I want from them. They are all very small in stature, few of them being over five feet three. The women are mostly old hags and all chew tobacco and smoke cigarettes. Even the little children are always smoking.

We had a very pleasant trip over, the only objection being the cramped quarters and unwholesome "grub." The weather was very propitious except for the China monsoon, which we ran through for three days preceding our arrival at Manila. It was very interesting steaming up the Manila Bay and seeing all the places described in the newspapers in connection with Dewey's victory. It took two hours to steam from Corrigidon Island, at the entrance of the bay, up to the head of the bay. The Baltimore had met us two days out and led the way in. The ships were lined up in single file and must have presented a very imposing appearance. The fleet of Dewey finally showed up in the distance, with Cavite on the left and Manila on the right. The Charleston fired a thirteen-gun salute to the Admiral and the German man-of-war, Kaisarina Augusta, which followed us in, fired another thirteen. As we neared our anchorage we could see the hulks of the sunken Spanish men-of-war. Some of them had been fine ships and should never have been sunk. The Spaniards are bottled up in Manila and all we have now to do is to take them, and the Philippines will be ours. Remember me to all Sonoma friends and don't fail to let me hear from you. Always your friend

A MARVEL.

An old astronomer there was
Who lived up in a tower
Named Ptolemy Copernicus
Flammarion McGower.
He said: "I can prognosticate
With estimates correct,
And when the skies I contemplate
I know what to expect.
When dark'ning clouds obscure my sight,
I think perhaps 'twill rain,
And when the stars are shining bright
I know 'tis clear again."
And then abstractedly he scanned
The heavens hour by hour,
Old Ptolemy Copernicus
Flammarion McGower.

THAT SEDAN CHAIR.

"I repeat it," said Jacques d'Ebligmac, with an emphasis so curious that all turned to look at him; "it gave me the fright of a lifetime."

"A sedan chair?"

"Yes. Listen, if you would know all about it." And he told us the following story:

"A love tale," said he, "of the city of Lille, of my twentieth year, and my pastry cook's daughter, a mere child, but so pretty, so sweet, so adorably coquettish; moreover, so admirably skilled in all pertaining to her father's business. Nowhere else could I buy such cake, such buns, such sugared almonds. And the stacks and stacks of rich confections that I devoured each day to prove my devotion!

"The fire of my love—which she returned between the smiles bestowed upon her father's customers—alone saved me from gastritis by consuming the heaviness of my stomach.

"This was the state of things, when, one day, I chanced to find the pass key of 'le pere,' who spent half his time in the wineshop across the way and the other half gossiping at his door with his equally idle neighbors.

"Determined to profit by this piece of luck, I managed to speak a word to Victoire, my little sweetheart, and to propose to her a visit to the theater that evening, if she could elude the vigilance of her mother and join me unseen. She could easily re-enter by means of the pass key.

"Victoire was charmed with my inspiration, and six hours after I had conceived the project we had carried it into execution. Although it was the middle of the winter the night was superb, a late rising moon, but thousands of brilliant stars shining from every quarter of the heavens. Victoire trembled like a leaf in the wind, but I was filled with such burning ardor that it mounted to my head like a drink of wine.

"We were young, you see; the theater for us a scene of enchantment, in love with each other and more than happy. Our hearts, like the strings of some delicately tuned instrument, vibrated to the slightest touch. In fact, we forgot everything but each other and never thought of moving when at last the final curtain fell until the lampist appeared to turn out the lights.

"Hurrying then to the street, we found that the night had changed. The stars were gone, the moon hidden under a canopy of clouds, a cold, penetrating rain beginning to fall and all the sedan chairs gone with the stars.

"No, I was wrong; one was left standing by the roadside a little way below us. At sight of it a fatal idea popped into my brain. It was not yet very late, and I had still so many beautiful things to say to Victoire. Why not get into that chair, a refuge from the chilly rain, and talk everything all over again?

"The clock at the corner was just striking 12 as we slipped into our movable apartment, rather cramped, to be sure, but both of us were light and thin; so, drawing close and snug like birds in a nest, we awaited the passing of the shower—cheerfully awaited it, too—when all at once something very strange occurred.

"The door of the house near which the chair was standing opened noiselessly, as if hung on velvet, and two men looked out, evidently desiring neither to be seen nor heard.

"Assured of solitude and a clear coast, they descended to the street, bearing in their arms a heavy burden. Just at that instant the moon slid from under the clouds, and we distinctly saw that this burden was a human being wrapped in a long cloak closely muffled about the face and shoulders.

"This was startling enough, but fancy our horror when the bearers of this strange load moved straight to the chair where we crouched in terror, and one of them already had his hand on the door when Victoire uttered a stifled shriek, answered by a frightful oath, and quick as a flash the men were gone as they had come, and the door reclosed as softly as it had opened.

"The whole thing had passed so quickly that we might have believed it some fearful vision, only doubt was not possible—we had seen it—both of us had distinctly seen the same thing, and without a spoken syllable were filled with the same blood freezing thought—murder—a murder doubtless committed in this very house, from which the murderers were now seeking to carry away and to conceal all traces of the crime with the victim's body.

"'Oh, let us go, let us go!' moaned Victoire tremblingly. 'Let us go at once, Jacques. I am so frightened!'

"Go? Yes, I was willing enough, but how? For as Victoire spoke, two men emerged from the darkness around us—we could barely distinguish them, as the moon had gone behind a cloud again—caught up the chair and were bearing us away into the dismal night.

"This was a predicament. We were stupefied. What must we do? Cry out, and make a dreadful scandal? Betray Victoire, and expose myself to the risk of discovery? Never! It was not to be thought of! It was not to be thought of! It was one of those times when trust in chance was the only resource, hoping by blind confidence to propitiate her favor.

"Perhaps this was our case; perhaps, and I am inclined to think the latter, we were both so frightened that we had neither the strength nor the courage to attempt anything. Victoire had unconsciously thrown herself into my arms. Her warm breath fanned my cheek. Her little hand held fast to mine. No matter what threatened us, it was something, at least, to have gained this happiness; we would die together, her last sigh on my lips.

"For these men—we were sure of it—were accomplices of the first two, and by a previous arrangement they had been engaged for the carrying off and concealing of the dead body. Deceived by our joint weight, they believed they had it, and we, instead of the murdered victim, were hurrying away through the shadowy gloom.

"True, so we were, but where were we hurrying? Where were we heading, as the men trotted on with swift, untiring steps, at times almost a run? What were they going to do with us—their sinister burden?

"Presently we saw that we were passing one of the city gates leading into the distant country. Again I was tempted to cry out, to call to the sentinel, but fear for Victoire deterred me, Victoire, whose mother believed her slumbering sweetly under her little white curtains.

"What should I do? What could I do? I was nearly distracted.

"By this time we were clear of the suburbs, but still swept onward. Another lightening of the sky, and I saw ahead of us a glistening sheet of water, the river Deule. I knew it well—a deep, rapid stream, the running of whose current we even now could hear.

"Undoubtedly the wretches were going to fling us into this seething vortex.

"This time I would have cried out, but Victoire, mad with fright, clung so tightly to my neck, clasping me with such force that my voice died in my throat, my eyes closed and the cry was strangled. * * *

"How long a time elapsed I never knew. I was brought back to consciousness by the chair striking the ground. They had set it down preparatory to—yes, but where, where? Decidedly not in the river. It was a room, on the contrary, the dirty, grimy chamber of a low country wineshop, where a crowd of rough, coarse men were drinking, swearing and rolling about a lot of boxes, barrels and packages, like merchandise.

"'Mme. Jervaise, Mme. Jervaise!' they shouted in chorus, as our bearers set us down. 'Have you brought us Mme. Jervaise?'

"'She is here,' the bearers replied.

"'To work, to work, then! We have no time to lose.'

"And the chair door was thrown open.

"But scarcely had they caught sight of Victoire and me, crouching half dead in the bottom of the chair, when a wild stampede took place, a helter skelter rush for the outside. The lights were extinguished, the thud of feet was heard pounding away into the night, and then a deep, bloodcurdling stillness.

"We were alone in black darkness.

"Luckily I had noticed the direction of the door. To leap from the chair, seize Victoire's hand and make my way to it was the work of a second. The clouds had not deepened, the rain had ceased, and by the purest miracle we found the road back to the city. By daylight we were safe at home.

"A fortnight later perhaps an article in a morning paper gave me the key to the mystery of that hideous night in which we (Victoire and I) had been so strangely involved. The article announced the capture by the police of a band of smugglers who had installed themselves in an old, abandoned wineshop in the outskirts of Lille—a regular magazine, as it turned out, of contraband goods, which they had smuggled in and out of the city by means of a manikin representing a sick old woman, partly paralyzed, and which, muffled in wraps and placed in a sedan chair, they carried back and forth under the very nose of the gendarmes without the slightest fear of detection.

"'An invalid ordered by the doctor to take the steam baths,' they told the officers of the law, 'by name Mme. Jervaise.'

"'Mme. Jervaise!' The name told me all and explained everything that hitherto had seemed mysterious and inexplicable in our midnight adventure. Happily for us our nocturnal escapade had never been suspected, and Victoire and I escaped a summons to appear as witnesses before the court of assizes. All the same from that day to this the thought of a sedan chair gives me goose flesh down the spine."—From the French in Cincinnati Enquirer.

ONE OF TWO WAYS.

The bladder was created for one purpose, namely, a receptacle for the urine, and as such is not liable to any form of disease except by by one of two ways. The first way is from imperfect action of the kidneys. The second way is from careless local treatment of other diseases.

Chief Cause.

Unhealthy urine from unhealthy kidneys is the chief cause of bladder troubles. So the womb, like the bladder, was created for one purpose, and if not doctored too much is not liable to weakness or disease, except in rare cases. It is situated back of and very close to the bladder, therefore any pain, disease or inconvenience manifested in the kidneys, back, bladder or urinary passages is often, by mistake, attributed to female weakness or womb trouble of some sort. The error is easily made and may be as easily avoided. To find out correctly, set your urine aside for twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates kidney or bladder trouble. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. If you need a medicine you should have the best. At druggists fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail. Mention the Index-Tribune and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietor of this paper guarantees the genuineness of this offer.
